Hello World!

This is a very simple example querying this text formatted using HTML code to some service configured using environment variable or single argument to the related example script generating this. The HTML code itself is streamed from a readable stream.